Having just hit twenty years of Folk Camps (by my reckoning, and not counting Covid years), I'm so glad that I've spent some of that time doing my best to give back some of my time into helping to run Folk Camps. It's been an honour and a privilege so far to help out as best I can with giving everyone the best camp we can cobble together every year. As the youngest current member of Council I feel it's important to ensure that we maintain a wide range of perspectives and views shared, and if re-elected I will continue to offer what I can to represent both my age group and campers as a whole. I'm especially proud of the efforts in Marketing over the last couple of years and our growth on social media, and I'm thoroughly looking forward to hopefully continuing to work with our fantastic volunteers trying to promote Folk Camps as much as we possibly can. I'd encourage anyone who's looking to try and contribute to Folk Camps to put yourself forward for Council as it offers such a different perspective on how the whole Programme of camps is run, and if you're wondering about Council and ever see me on camp, feel free to come over and have a chat!
